DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 3, 5-8, 37, 39, 41-44, 74-97 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Himmelstein (US 6993511) (“Himmelstein”).

Re claims 1, 3, 5-8, 37, 39, 41-44, 74-97: Himmelstein teaches a method comprising: receiving at least one durable good parameter, in which the durable good parameter is associated with a transaction of a durable good at a future date (Figs. 9A and 9B; col. 24, lines 25-29); generating a durable good futures contract order based on the durable good parameter (Fig. 8); storing the generated durable good futures contract order in a database with a plurality of other durable good futures contract orders (Fig. 8, ele. 116); receiving a query comprising at least one durable good query parameter (col. 10, lines 13-23); transmitting a plurality of durable good futures contract orders in response to satisfying the query, in which each transmitted durable good futures contract order comprises at least one parameter that matches at least one query parameter (Fig. 6); executing a durable good futures contract trader agreement, in response to a user's selection of a durable good futures contract order from a plurality of durable good futures contract orders (Fig. 6, ele. 633; col. 16, lines 23-33).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2, 4, 38 and 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Himmelstein.

Re claims 2, 4, 38 and 40: Himmelstein does not explicitly teach durable goods from a group consisting of an automobile, a watercraft, an aircraft, and a home appliance. However, Himmelstein teaches durable goods including gold (Fig. 9B). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Himmelstein to include automobile, a watercraft, an aircraft, and a home appliance. One would have been motivated to do so in order to create an exchange-traded futures based on basket of manufactured goods.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
